As the only agency in San Mateo County solely dedicated to serving survivors of domestic violence, it gives me great pleasure to provide a snapshot of CORA.

While the need for our crisis intervention and supportive services rose yet again in FY '14 - calls to our hotline were up 27% - with support from local, state and federal sources, foundations, community organizations and individuals, each of those calls was met 24 hours a day, seven days a week by a specially trained, dedicated staff member or volunteer. And as a result, thousands upon thousands of residents of San Mateo County know they are not alone, that abuse is not their fault and that help is available. Thank you for celebrating with us!
